

OFFICIALS OF ROAD KILLED AS LIMITED CRASHES INTO CAR

FOUR MEN IN PRIVATE CAR MET DEATH EARLY TODAY NEAR CENTRALIA, ILLINOIS.

OTHERS ARE INJURED

Three Trainmen Injured and Passengers Badly Bruised—Hannahan, Melcher, Pierce and Wright Are Those Dead.

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 22.—James T. Hannahan, Sr., former president of the Illinois Central railway, Frank C. Melcher, second vice president of the Rock Island railway, E. P. Pierce, general solicitor of the Rock Island line and Eldridge E. Wright, son of Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war, were killed in a collision of an Illinois Central train at Kilmurry, Illinois early today.

Three Are Injured. Three trainmen were injured and the passengers in the coach were badly shaken and bruised.

The New Orleans Express was taking water at Kilmurry at one o'clock, when the train number twenty-three, the Panama Limited, ran into the rear of number twenty-five.

The killed were in the private car of Mr. Melcher. Their bodies were found near the berth they had occupied. Four occupants of the private car, one of whom was the secretary of Mr. Melcher, Byron D. Currier, escaped.

Plowed Through Car. The engine of number twenty-three plowed its way through the private car which was attached to number twenty-five and was stopped by the steel coaches immediately preceding. The intact moved the standing train for a distance down the track.

The engineer and fireman were slightly injured but were able to take the train south as soon as the wreckage was cleared away.

Relief trains left here soon after the wreck intended to fetch the injured and dead to this place. The limited carried sleeping cars only and without the intact. The express was composed of steel coaches.

One Train Late. The trains were due to pass south of Centralia but because of number twenty-five being late number twenty-three met it at Kilmurry, thirty miles north of here.

It is said no flagman was sent back by number twenty-five. Hannahan recently retired from the presidency of the Illinois Central railroad on a pension. Melcher lived in Winnetka, Illinois and Pierce in Highland Park, a suburb of Chicago. Mr. Wright resided in Natchez, Mississippi. Kilmurry is a town of 1500 inhabitants opened their doors to succor the injured soon after the news of the wreck spread.

Son in Hospital. Chicago, Jan. 22.—James J. Hannahan, Jr., who in the first report was said to have been killed in the Illinois Central wreck is confined in St. Luke's hospital. His arm was broken recently. Acting under the orders of his physician the hospital authorities have not notified him of his father's death.

W. J. Hannahan another son who is vice president of the Erie Ry. offices in New York City was notified and he is now on his way to Chicago. Mrs. Hannahan is at the family home 5336 Michigan avenue. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Melroy and her home was in Natchez. Two daughters, Mrs. Mary Nichol and Mrs. A. Dale, both widows are now in Paris.

Scarcity of Water. Engineer Robert Stuart and Jack Vert, fireman of the limited were the two trainmen injured. Both are from Champlain and were taken to their homes. The bodies of the dead were taken to Chicago.

The cause of the wreck is ascribed to scarcity of water along the road. A special order makes it necessary for all trains to take water at Kilmurry and a freight train which took water before the express held the express longer than customary.

Stuart and Vert were a freight crew lately put on a passenger train. It is believed they forgot about the order for all trains to take water. The flagman on No. 25 did not have time to flag the limited.

Frightfully Mangled. The top of the head of Mr. Hannahan was torn off. The arm of most of the victims were torn off and a doctor reported the legs are held on by shreds. Mr. Hannahan's body was mutilated more, perhaps, than the others. The responsibility for the wreck was placed on the townsmen at Edgewood by Henry J. Brecker, flagman of train No. 25, at the inquest which began here shortly before noon. He testified that the townsmen should have blocked No. 3 for ten minutes.

DEMOCRATS FAVOR BIG REDUCTION IN TARIFF ON STEEL

Fifty to Thirty Per Cent Reduction in Duty on All Articles of Iron and Steel Is Proposed.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—(Reduction of thirty to fifty per cent on all items in the iron and steel tariff, and the placing on the tariff free list of iron ore, sowing machines, printing machinery, cash registers, and many other articles against which a duty is now levied, are proposed in the democratic steel revision tariff bill made public today.

Will Reduce Revenue. Democratic leader Underwood estimated that the bill would reduce the average tariff on steel imports from 34.51 per cent to 22.42 per cent ad valorem, and would reduce the government tariff revenues from steel products by $23,387 from 1911 and by $4,000,000 from 1910. Imports of steel products, he said, would be increased by nearly twenty million dollars.

Steel Investigation. President J. A. Reed, and Attorney J. A. Reed of the United States Steel Corporation, appearing today before the house "steel trust" investigating committee, produced books and records ordered by the committee.

Mr. Reed said that the corporation had not abandoned hope that the committee would avoid unnecessary publicity of the operating costs of the corporation's business.

Chairman Stanley told the steel of the fact that it was not the committee's purpose unnecessarily to make public trade secrets, but that all the facts essential to show the corporation's standing under the Sherman anti-trust law would be made public.

"There will be no unnecessary or spiteful use of these records," he added.

"That is all I can ask," replied Attorney Reed.

Profit and loss figures from 1902 to date were supplied and Mr. Stanley announced they could be used "without restriction."

Lorimer Case. The Lorimer case is being held in definitely because of the illness of Judge Honney, Senator Lorimer's counsel.

No Cliques, Factions Nor Interests

To the Voters of Janesville:

As this campaign is all over, except the registration of the people's will, we, the undersigned, who have acted as a "Citizens' Committee," desire to thank our fellow townsmen for the courteous attitude they have taken toward our work. We believe that the voters understand that we have conducted this campaign for what we consider to be the betterment of Janesville; that we have been guided by no motive of selfish interest, nor controlled by any clique, faction or class.

We have presented a full and complete argument and in time for it to be answered by the opposition. Remember, no answer has been made to the main issue.

Remember, 282 cities have tried and are satisfied with Commission Government and none have retraced their steps.

Remember, tomorrow is the day. Vote for "Yes" for a better and a bigger Janesville.

DETROIT WILL VOTE ON CITY OWNERSHIP

Special Election Tomorrow Will Decide Whether City Will Take Over Street Railway System.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—A special election will be held in Detroit tomorrow to settle the street railway controversy, which has been a burning issue ever since the late H. S. Plimpton, during his term as mayor, inaugurated a campaign for three-cent fares some fifteen years ago.

At tomorrow's election the voters will decide the fate of the Thompson-Hall plan, which provides for an extension of the present street railway franchises until 1924 with eight tickets for a quarter in day time, six at night, and universal transfers. At the same time the voters will pass upon a proposal for out-and-out municipal ownership of the street railways.

This campaign which closed today has been the most hotly contested in the history of Detroit. The Board of Commerce is the leading proponent of the Thompson-Hall ordinance, while the city have been covered with posters advertising the merits of the plan. Mayor Thompson and a corps of fifty assistants have toured the city daily making speeches for the ordinance.

It is generally believed that the three-cent plan will be carried and the proposal for municipal ownership defeated. The business men appear to be almost a unit in support of the Thompson-Hall ordinance. Sentiment among the workmen is more difficult to gauge, though a straw vote of the employees in many of the large factories indicates that the workmen also favor the three-cent fare plan. The women have taken a lively interest in the campaign, as the women taxpayers are to have a vote at the election.

The opponents of the three-cent ordinance are banking on the requirement of the constitution that, to carry the measure must have not less than three-fifths of two votes polled. This means that the ordinance must have a majority of not less than 10,000 votes.

NO CONSCIENCE FUND IN STATE OF WISCONSIN

State Treasurer Dahl States That Two Remittances of This Nature Were Placed in Right Hands.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—"There is no conscience fund in Wisconsin," said State Treasurer A. H. Dahl when shown a report that the United States government has a fund of over a half million dollars accumulated through the promptings of the "still, small voice." "We have had only two remittances to a conscience fund in the last two years and as we found that the money did not belong to the state but to a private individual, it was turned over to him, thus leaving the account exhausted."

In the case referred to, Milwaukee man sent Treasurer Dahl about $30. The writer explained to him that about $1 worth of stamps from the desk of James K. Proudfit, a state senator from Dane county, in 1885, Mr. Dahl communicated with Senator Proudfit two years ago, who was then in the West. Upon receiving an opinion from the attorney general, Treasurer Dahl finally sent Mr. Proudfit the entire amount, $30, which included compound interest upon the original $1 stolen, at the rate of about four per cent.

Since 1811, during the administration of President Madison, over $500,000 have been received for the conscience fund of the national government.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT IS JUDGE'S SENTENCE

Wife Murderer Will Spend Remainder of Days in the State Prison.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 22.—Dr. Harry E. Webster, of Chicago, was today sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Richard S. Farnard for the murder of Beale Kent Webster last October.

In pronouncing sentence the court reviewed the crime and declared that "no greater continuing punishment could be inflicted upon a young intelligent man than to imprison him for life."

The court said in part: "When the iron doors of the penitentiary close behind you, you must abandon all hopes of freedom on this earth. With in those cold grey walls with the dark memory of your wretched crime before you must remain until death you are called to approach the silent shores of eternity.

If the light which then breaks upon you is radiant with hope and you hear the voice of peace, it will be only because an almighty and merciful God has forgiven your awful sin. You have sinned against God's laws and broken His most sacred commandment. Humbly beseech Him for forgiveness and mercy.

It is the sentence of this court that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary at Joliet for and during your natural life, the first day of that imprisonment to be in solitary confinement the balance of the time at hard labor and that you pay the cost of prosecution."

TO TRY STEPMOTHER ON MURDER CHARGE

California Woman Accused of Taking Life of Step-daughter—Girl Found Dead in an Attic.

Groville, Cal., Jan. 22.—Much interest is manifested in the case of Mrs. Emma L. Rumball, who was arraigned in court here today to stand trial for the alleged murder of her 18-year-old stepdaughter, Helen Rumball. The little girl was found dead in the attic of her home here last June.

In the morning of the day of her death, her stepmother had whipped her and bound her to the studding of the attic because, according to the stepmother, the little girl had misbehaved. It was one of the hottest days of the year and the consequent heat in the attic was increased by an incubator in operation. The supposition is that the girl faltered from the heat and in falling to the floor was strangled by the rope with which she was tied.

The medical examination showed that her neck was broken in two places. When the facts became known Mrs. Rumball was indicted for causing the death of her stepdaughter, Arthur Lewis, a brother of Mrs. Rumball, was indicted as an accessory. Lewis was tried several weeks ago and convicted of manslaughter.

POULTRY SHOW ENDS WITH GOOD RESULTS FOR MANY FANCIERS

Review of Some of the Creditable Showings Made at Exhibit Last Week.
(By F. J. Holt.)

Another poultry show is a matter of history. All the exhibitors have gone and the birds are in their breeding pens from which they expect to produce better stock for the next competition. Although the show has passed its results will be lasting. The one who was showing for the first time has learned a number of very important things about his favorite fowl. The older breeders have found out that there are some youngsters in the business who know a good bird now and then.

Edgerton has a fine lot of birds and the owners are true fanciers. Rev. Schenfeld's Black Langshans are the typical ones that so many breeders have been trying to produce for so many years. In color and toe markings they are excellent. Mr. A. H. Clarke had some Buff Orpingtons that were a most pleasing sight to look at. Good Buff color is hard to produce but these birds had it in both outer and under sections. Mr. Malbert's White Wyandottes were very good in color and with a little more maturity will make the best of them to win the blue. The R. C. Red pullet shown by Thos. Westlake was the best colored bird in the class and in shape was almost perfect. Thos. A. Clarke's Buff Wyandottes were very good but a little young for this show. He must be reckoned with another year. Buff Orpingtons were out in full force. The ones shown by Harry Shelden of our city were very fine. The Orpingtons' shape was there as well as the good color. This breeder certainly knows how to produce good birds in this breed. O. S. Morse another local breeder always wins his share of ribbons and this show only went to prove that he still can be counted upon for the strongest kind of competition.

The feather guessing contest created a lot of amusement. The guesses ran as high as 45,000 and as low as 98. The total number of feathers contained in the quart jar was 897. Miss Gladys Wolcott, of 220 Linn St., won the $5 in gold by her guess of 636. The $2.50 gold piece offered for second prize went to Miss Ethel Christensen whose guess was 635.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held the middle of February. At that time plans will be started for the exhibit of 1912. The matter of the judges will be decided and other business of importance will be gone over.

But few cases of sick fowls were noticeable during the week. The second prize R. C. Brown Cockerel, was so disappointed about not winning first prize that he dropped dead in his coop the next morning. A few birds that had colds when they arrived at the show room were in excellent health when the week was over. This shows that the conditions within the hall were kept in sanitary order so that no disease germs could possibly live there.

Four new boiler-makers and three new machinists have been added to the shop forces this week and the chances are from the appearance of things that they will be kept busy for a little while at least.

Machinist's Helper Sullivan took a turn at Krimm's job Sunday and was all tired out today as a result.

Engines 507 and 756 are the latest arrivals in the roundhouse for repairs. The Beloit and hog has been moved to the center of the house where it can't shove it in the pit, because the hole is not as big.

Owing to the fact that a large supply of assorted supplies was received this morning at the storekeepers' of Rev. Frank Hennessey nearly got up a sensation. There will probably be some of the roundhouse force laying off tomorrow.

FORGED CHECKS ARE PASSED BY SWINDLER

William Hagany, Alderman Edward Schmiedley and Railroad Hotel, Are Victims of Clever Swindler.

Attempts made by three parties this morning to cash checks of different amounts signed by C. W. Curtis, and payable at the First National Bank disclosed the fact that they had been forged, and that no one of that name had a deposit at that bank. Those who were deceived by the clever swindler were William H. Hagany, who accepted a check for $20; Alderman Edward Schmiedley who received one for $5 and the Railroad Hotel which took one for $15.

Chief of Police Appleby was first informed of the forgeries at ten o'clock this morning and in an hour a search was made for a description of the swindler and an account of his actions while in this city. He found that Curtis, his wife, baby, and wife's sister registered at the Grand Hotel last Wednesday and remained there until 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when they left the city on a south-bound train. Curtis, before leaving, paid Mr. Sweeney his bill in full in cash. Their destination, as he was checked, was Chicago for their trunk was checked, too that city.

Curtis is about five feet, five inches tall, weighs about one hundred and forty pounds, is thirty-five years old, has dark hair, and when here wore a slouch hat and gray overcoat with military collar. He wore two loose jackets, one an Eagle emblem and the other a B. E. emblem.

His wife is a small woman, weighing about one hundred and fifteen pounds, and has dark hair. Her sister is about sixteen years old, and the baby is seven months old.

Chief Appleby called the Chief of detectives at Chicago over the telephone soon after obtaining a description of Curtis and his party and so let the aid of his force in the search for the forger.

He was promised all possible assistance and was informed that they had also received orders from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen at Denver, Colo., to find Curtis and place him under arrest.

It is thought that the forger may have passed other worthless checks in Janesville during his extended stay here and that these will soon come to light.

DEBATERS PREPARE FOR NEXT CONTEST

Race Out of Running, Leaving Kenosha, Janesville, and Beloit to Finish Race for Honors.

Word was received from Kenosha today that they were victorious over Racine, who is now out of the race for honors in the league. Although both negative teams won as here and at Beloit, Kenosha was given four points to Racine's two. This leaves Janesville, Beloit and Kenosha to finish the contest. On February 23 the Janesville negative team which was successful against Beloit last week will meet the Kenosha affirmative team at the high school auditorium in this city. On the same night the Beloit negative and the Janesville affirmative teams who met here before, will meet again at Beloit, with exactly the same teams and the same debates strengthened by experience. On that night also the Beloit affirmative team which was defeated by the Janesville boys, will meet the Kenosha negative team at Kenosha.

Janesville's teams this time will be the same as before, the negative team being composed of Glenn McArthur, leader and third speaker; Louis French, first speaker; and Stanley Judd, second speaker, with the affirmative team being Thomas Paulsen as leader and third speaker; Stanley Meier as first speaker, and Robert Cunningham as second speaker. Different judges will be chosen in each case probably as before, the college choosing one and each team naming one.

CONTACTS SUBSCRIBE REWARD FOR RETURN OF PRISONERS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Houston, Texas, Jan. 22.—Decades the honor of the prison system was aspersed when two convicts escaped after the governor of the state has proposed putting all convicts on their honor not to escape if allowed to work on roads, convicts at the state penitentiary have subscribed a sum of $291 as a reward for the apprehension of the escaped men.

Recently Governor Calhoun proposed a plan whereby convicts would be placed upon their honor not to escape and put to work building roads. No guards would be provided and the prisoners' virtually would be free, with the exception that they would be compelled to work where directed by the state and during their sentences. The plan was accepted by the convicts all eager to pledge their honor not to escape.

The recent escape of two convicts has caused indignation among other convicts and thirty of them raised $291 in amounts of from $1 to $10 and forwarded it to the governor as a reward for the apprehension and return of the fugitives who violated their own honor and aspersed that of the convict body.

KATHERINE JEFFRIS SAVES TWO COLLEGE GIRLS FROM FLAMES

Discovers Smoke-Filled Room in College Dormitory, With Two Girls Overcome.—Used Electric Light to Warm Bed.

Miss Katherine Jeffris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jeffris, of this city, through her prompt and heroic action, saved two of her college girl friends from death by suffocation or flames early Sunday morning.

Miss Jeffris occupies a room in Stowell Cottage, one of the girls' dormitories at Beloit College, in which the accident occurred. Early Sunday morning she was awakened by the odor of smoke which had penetrated to her room. She immediately investigated and found that it came from the floor above. She hastened to the room and found it full of smoke. Her calls to the two young ladies who occupied the room were of no avail and she hastened to the bed. When the bed-clothing was disturbed flames burst forth and only by quick work on the part of Miss Jeffris and those who had been aroused by her cries, the fire finally checked. Both the young ladies who were seriously overcome by the smoke fumes, were revived after some minutes of resuscitation.

The cause of the accident, which was so nearly fatal to the two young ladies, was due to the use of an electric light bulb as a bed warmer. Both the girls had attended the Pan-Hellenic dance Saturday evening and on returning to their rooms found them rather cold. The electric lamp was used with the result that the wire melted and the bed-clothing was heated to the ignition point. Had they opened their windows, as was their usual custom, there is no doubt but that a serious fire would have resulted.

COMMISSION HEARS MILTON JUNCTION CASE

Crossing North of the Junction to be Subject of Hearing Thursday at Bank.

Following the serious injury of a man named Gray, and the killing of his team some time last year on the railroad crossing about one mile north of Milton Junction, the State Railroad Commission, upon its own motion, made an investigation of the crossing and decided that "grounds" existed to warrant a hearing as to whether the crossing should be guarded or not. A hearing was called for January 23 at Madison, but Saturday notice was served on John Paul, of Milton; J. M. Smart, the railroad's attorney; and District Attorney Dunsmiddle that the hearing would be held Thursday at the Farmers' Bank building in Milton Junction. At the place where Gray was hurt, the road and the track both run through cuts so that neither engineer nor driver can see the other's right of way until they are on the crossing. Probably an electric bell or some similar signal will be installed as a result of the hearing.

WHITEWATER TEAM
WINS FROM LOCALS

Company C Team Defeated Y. M. C. A. Five Saturday Night by Score of 35 to 21.

Defeat for the first time this season entered the camp of the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team when the White-water Company C team pulled up its score of 35 to 21 in a contest at White-water Saturday evening. Janesville's team played a fast and scrappy game and gave a first class exhibition of basketball, but in the last few minutes of the game their opponents raised the score up beyond any possibility of equalling it on the part of the local team.

The Janesville five was somewhat handicapped by the slippery floor and were not able to work some of their best plays. Wilson and Kopp did excellent work, each being credited with three field goals. Physical Director Hartwell refereed the game to the satisfaction of both sides.

Janesville's lineup was: Wilson and McDonald, forwards; Kopp center; Sholes and Ryan, guards.

THE PRO AND CON OF COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

By Judge Sale.
Janesville, Wis., Jan. 22, 1912.
Editor Gazette:—
Since we voted on the commission form of government two years ago I have been much interested in the subject and have, in common with many others, watched with interest those cities where it has been adopted, and have been greatly gratified with their success in the conduct of city business.

I think it must be conceded that there is a strong feeling in this country that our present system of city government is not all that it should be and that the time has come to make some effort for its betterment. Cities have been governed, and the business of cities has been conducted, not as other corporate business has been conducted, but as though, because it is city government, its public business did not require the same study, thought, care and attention that other corporate or private business requires in order for it to succeed.

The impression has seemingly prevailed that because it was public and not private business, it was in a class by itself and did not require the same thoughtful care and attention that other business requires and must have in order to realize any beneficial results. How long could any private business last, conducted as the business of cities is conducted? It is not the men composing the governing bodies of cities, under the present system that is at fault by any means, but the fault lies in the system itself.

The great reason why the present system has demonstrated itself a failure is because the governing body has always been given the power to impose taxes upon the people to make good its lack of business methods. If, at the end of the year, the books could not be made to balance, there was easily added to the next tax rate sufficient to make up the deficiency.

An effort is now being made in this city to place the business of the city of Janesville upon a business basis, by employing men to conduct its business in a business way, by the adoption of intelligent and proper business methods, this to be accomplished by employing the men to be selected by the people at large and who shall give the business of the city their entire time, thought and energy and to place the city upon the same plane with other corporate business. I am so strongly impressed with the substantial benefits that must come to the city by such a change that I cannot refrain from expressing my unqualified approval of the change to the commission system and my sincere desire that tomorrow's vote will overwhelmingly approve the change.

J. W. SALE.

expense it would bring to the city at large (trading.)

It is not the members of the council who are attacked, but the machinery of the ward system—that is the object of the proposed change, and if the Gazette's persistence has brought up the question of commission government it should receive the taxpayer's thanks—the taxpayer whose hard-earned money now goes toward the maintenance of those useless wheels.

W. S. S.

AN ENDORSEMENT.
Janesville, Wis., Jan. 21, 1912.
Editor Gazette:—
I happened to pick up an issue of the (Recorder) today and in glancing over its columns I noticed that they accuse you of "muddling." Now I have read every article in your paper concerning Commission Form of Government, and also a few of the Recorder's articles on the same subject and I firmly believe that the Recorder is doing all of the "muddling." And I wish to state that I was in Dixon, Illinois on a visit a short time ago (it being my former home) and they have the Commission Form of Government there and I inquired of a number of people about how the people in general seemed to like it, and I was told by everyone that I asked, that they were well satisfied with it. One party said to me, "You know how it used to be, when they had a council meeting they would argue themselves, they did not seem to get in harmony, and they never got anything done. Now they don't go to a meeting to find fault with one another, they go to do business. In the old form of government, when the people of Dixon, wanted some much needed improvements to be made, it was generally some time before the improvements were made, and in very many cases they did not get them at all, no matter how much they were needed. Whereas now, I am told whenever they need any improvements, and it is practical that with the Commission form of Government the people's wants are tended to much more direct than with the present form of government. I shall certainly go to the polls next Tuesday and support the Commission form of Government."

Respectfully,
U. S. HESS.

The Law.
To the Editor:—
Through the referendum, commission government gives the people an absolute veto on all acts of the city council. No ordinance, except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of public peace, health or safety which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by an affirmative vote of the council can go into effect for ten days. If, during those ten days, a petition is signed by voters equal in number to 20 per cent of the last vote for mayor protesting against the passage of the ordinance, it is suspended, and the council must either entirely repeal the same or submit it to a vote of the people at either a general or special election. And such ordinance can never go into effect unless a majority of the voters voting on the proposition vote in favor of it. And although an emergency ordinance goes into effect immediately, it is nevertheless subject to the referendum and stands repealed if rejected by the people at the polls.

Thus the people can absolutely prevent the council from doing anything which is contrary to their wishes. The referendum goes right to the seat of the trouble, and declares null and void an act of the council which does not meet with the approval of a majority of the voters. Commission government takes away from the city council the absolute power which the common council now possesses to enact ordinances in spite of, and in contravention to the wishes of the people.

LAWYER.

Answers Question.
In reply to the Gazette of January 20th, as to what interests are behind me against the commission plan of government, I wish to state to the voters of Janesville that there are no special interests or personal motives involved in the stand I have taken against the plan. I simply took up the matter because I thought it my duty as a citizen and a voter to fight for the benefit of the common people. I claim the commission form of government is contrary to American principles. It concentrates too much power into the hands of a few men. It takes from the people the right of representative government. It is the first step to autocracy and despotism and other un-American laws. It gives certain interests too much opportunity to foster special privileges at the expense of the common interests. I am intensely American, and will take up the cudgel at any time to fight any measures of laws that I think are contrary to the good and welfare of the people. Perhaps my views do not carry much weight or influence, but that will not deter me from my purpose. I am only a hard working man, toiling six days a week and am happy and content with my lot. I have studied economic and political conditions as much as my limited education and spare time would allow me to do so, and I claim it is the duty of every citizen to do so. Read the daily papers, study conditions, educate yourself and then you will always be in a position to fight for the interests of the common people and help make this the greatest country on earth. So much has been said pro and con about the commission form of government that it is pretty well thrashed out and so I will close with the hope and belief that the voters of Janesville will defeat the plan by a large majority, for the good of the people.

Respectfully,
JOHN L. KRUSEMEIER,
A Working Man.

UNBIASED OPINION.
Editor Gazette:—
In as much as the Recorder is so rabidly opposed to the Commission

Form of Government being adopted in Janesville it might be well to inform the people as to the ownership of that paper. I doubt if there are many who know that the Recorder Printing Co., and the Janesville Electric Co., are owned by the same persons, but such is the fact. A proper name for the Janesville Recorder would be The Janesville Electric Company. Perhaps the Electric Company is satisfied it can handle a Board of Aldermen better than it could handle three good Commissioners when its street lighting contract expires and it asks for a new contract.

"MAN UP A TREE"

LIVE STOCK RAISING TO BE ENCOURAGED

Plans for Improving Industry in This State to Be Considered at Meeting of Breeders, February 7-8.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—Convicted that the great majority of Wisconsin's 176,746 farms are peculiarly adapted to live stock production, many Wisconsin farmers are increasing the size of their herds and flocks so as to utilize better all of the waste products and idle lands of their farms. Plans for effecting this improvement in the livestock industry will be considered at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association and its allied bodies, to be held February 7-8. Representatives of some of the railroad lines operating in the state already have agreed to cooperate in the work of bringing the advantages of live stock raising to the attention of farmers living along their lines.

Efforts are being made to have representatives of the United States and Canadian governments attend one or more of these meetings to tell Wisconsin stockmen of the work being done in the two countries to encourage and improve the live stock industry.

FIRST BANANAS IN THREE WEEKS ARRIVE

Potatoes, $1.20 Today.—Banana Fam. Inc. Narrowly Averted.—Fresh Eggs Scarc.

For the first time in three weeks the railroad company accepted a carload of bananas at Chicago, and brought them to this city, breaking the banana famine which had been started in the city. But for the fact that the local wholesale fruitmen had several hundred bunches on hand at the beginning of the cold weather there would have been a considerably longer time during which no bananas could be had. As it was they were sufficient to last through the cold weather and the local dealers had just disposed of their last a few days before the warmer weather allowed the shipping of the fruit.

Many cars of oranges were condemned by the health officers in Chicago and three or four in Milwaukee having been frozen during the recent cold. Vegetables are just beginning to come in now which have not been seen on the local markets for about two weeks and the present warm weather will open traffic in all lines of perishable goods.

Potatoes have gone up to $1.20 a bushel on account of the impossibility of getting any in the stores. It is still too cold for the farmers to bring in those which they have held in storage all winter and also to get any from Chicago. There are at present almost no potatoes on the market and the price will continue to rise if the supply doesn't begin to increase soon. Fresh eggs are very scarce today and very few dealers have enough to supply the demand. Today's prices are as follows:

Vegetables.
Carrots—2c lb.

There is a bachelor who says that all he should ask in a wife would be a good temper, health, good understanding, agreeable physiognomy, figure, good complexion, domestic habits, resources of amusement, good spirits, conversational talents, elegant manners—money! Not So Bad.

THE THEATERS

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.
"Love's Young Dream," which will be presented at Myers Theater, Friday, Jan. 26, by Fiske O'Hara and his excellent supporting company, is said to be the most delightful Irish play produced in many years. Its story deals with the dashing Irish gentility of the eighteenth century. At this period, Dublin was one of the fashionable centers of Europe and the country was filled with an aristocracy who did not deem it necessary to go to London to be in the social whirl. The Irish capital was quite exclusive enough to please the most fastidious, and the nobility of the country lived on their own estates. "Love's Young Dream" treats of this class and as a picture of life in the Green Isle at that period it is most interesting. Mr. O'Hara has a capital part in "Harry," which he invests with his usual grace and artistic personality. He introduces a number of fine songs in the piece, among which are some rare old favorites.

NATIONAL 40

We Win!

Road Race Champion

Dealers of National cars are now the focus of attention in all motor-markets. They have what the public is most anxious to own—The Road Race Champion.

The public does not want to drive in races—NO—but it does demand a car that is safe, reliable, strong, powerful and easy to control, comfortable to ride in, and refined in every detail. Such a car is the National, as the Records Prove.

Motor Age selects the National 40 as the 1911 Road Race Champion. It was not a "narrow escape" either. Listen to this unbiased authoritative report: "To select the most successful make of car is a comparatively easy task, for none can question the right of the National to this honor." "The record of the National is nothing short of phenomenal." Out of 27 road races run the National took part in 12 and won 9 Firsts, 3 Seconds and 2 Thirds. Added to all this is the fact that the National is the holder of the World's Record, which was smashed twice in one day and which withstood the attacks of others on the magnificent Savannah course.

Harvey Herriek, a National driver, is selected by this authority as the 1911 Road Race Champion. He is one of the 30 Pilots who drove National cars in various kinds of events in 1911 (who are not factory employees). Only seven pilots are factory employees. Herriek won the Free-For-All at Santa Monica in a National, breaking the World's Record, with an average of 74.63 M. P. H. This National is exactly the same as you buy, a stock car in every particular, except high speed gears in transmission.

Motor Age continues: "One reaches some interesting statistics in the National Speed Department, for the figures show that the 19 Nationals that finished had a grand average of 61.67 Miles Per Hour. Of these marks, there were five that were better than 70 Miles an Hour." "As for the drivers, there was none who had such a commanding lead as did the National among the cars. It was the World's Record and the keenness of the competition Herriek had to meet that causes the writer to name him as Champion."

Race tracks are the laboratories where National cars are put through the white heat of analytical tests. Thousands of miles of sustained high speed tells the story of the National's Quality. A car that can come out of such a battle without a scar is more reliable and more to be trusted as a conveyance for you, your wife and your family than some ill-bred, flimsy machine of inferior material, design and workmanship.

Consider the cost, too. Cars from foreign and American factories of much greater cost have endeavored to conquer the National, all without success.

The National stands out with all-honorable distinctness against the background of all competition, regardless of cost.

Many of our sales this year will be to motor-educated people who had formerly owned more expensive cars—but who happily learned that the National is adequate in service, accompanied by exclusive elegance and comfort at less money.

The National, due to its world-wide reputation, "Stock Champion," and "Road Race Champion," its heritage of perfection in correct fundamentals, its refinements in appointments, and its comfort and general atmosphere of elegance—makes the best value on the market regardless of price.

We invite you to write us at once concerning the National 40. You will receive prompt and courteous service at all times. We will exhibit at both the New York and Chicago Shows.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

A Hidden Enemy to Health.

We are beginning to understand the intimate connection between the mind and the body, and that many of the physical ills from which we suffer have a mental rather than a material cause. And one of the mental states that is a prime promoter of physical woes is discontent. The man or woman who is just plain discontented is laying a foundation for many physical ills, if indeed he is not already suffering from them and wondering what can be their cause.

There are two kinds of discontent, divine discontent that urges on to better things, and just plain, everyday discontent that makes us sour and bitter and irritable. Divine discontent is a good thing. Its action is healthful. This kind of discontent is not under discussion. But the ordinary discontent of which all of us have attacks now and then is harmful. And we should recognize it as injurious, and rid ourselves of it as quickly as possible.

Just as soon as the germ of discontent begins to work in our mind, everything begins to look gloomy. Life takes on a pessimistic tinge. Nothing is right or goes right. The body catches the cue. We grow irritable. We scold the children or reprimand our business associates. This means that wires are crossed in the nerve region. Next, the stomach sulks. We don't want anything to eat, and what we do eat disagrees with us. Then, our head begins to ache. The world looks blue and blue. Our spirits sag. It is like an endless chain. The mind affects the body, and the body in turn lowers the tone of the mind. And so it goes; and, unless we put a stop to it, the last state of the discontented man or woman calls for a medical board and a sanatorium.

Many a person who is suffering and dosing for indigestion or nervous trouble or insomnia would find, if he would get busy and chase the disorder right down to its beginning, that discontent was the spark that had lighted the whole conflagration. He is out of sorts with his work, his home, his surroundings, his associates, his social position. He is not content in some direction, and it frets him, irritates him, sets up a fever in his mind, and then the body falls in line with his physical correspondence.

The trouble with this sort of discontent is that it is content to remain discontent. If it would go briskly to work to remedy, or else to put out of mind, the thing that is bothering it, the ills that ensue would quickly disappear. For discontent is inactive. It ralls at the cause, but it sits apathetic under it. For as soon as discontent takes off its coat and begins to work to remove the trouble, it is no longer discontent. It is howling a path straight to content. Energy and activity will soon batter down the stronghold of this hidden enemy to health. And once freed from it, the spirits will revive, the sky grow blue, and strength return once more to the body.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

FOR the great men are modest, because they continually compare themselves, not with other men, but with that idea of the perfect which they have before their minds. —Milton.

It has always seemed to me that the blind bard might well have added that the great men were great for the same reason that they were modest.

Today a little story about a certain great woman I have had the privilege of knowing.

I call her "great" and perhaps you are waiting to hear some famous name, but I don't use the term in just that way. For she has "spent herself in channels which had no great name on earth." But, she is great just the same, even if nobody knows it.

This woman, who is now about fifty years old, has brought up a family of seven children. And not only has she been one of the finest of house-mothers to them, but she has also frequently been the financial head of the family. She has been in several lines of work, literary and otherwise, and she says today, proudly and with absolute truth, "So far, I have never failed."

She has at different times earned a salary of over twenty-five hundred a year, which, if you will recall, statistics I have formerly given you, is over twice the wage of the average man. Furthermore, she did not have a college course or any specific training—only an ordinary high-school education.

Of course, the natural explanation of such a career is that she has an unusually good mind. Yes, she has that. But I don't think it is chiefly that which has made her success possible. There are many qualities which have helped—her splendid energy, an unusual definiteness and practicality, a never-flagging perseverance, and an agreeable personality, have all played their parts. But the quality which has had the most to do with making this woman successful in whatever she turned her hand to, I think, is just this: "a passion for perfection."

I worked with her once and I have good reason to know. At the time I often smiled and sometimes rebelled at the exactness which she laid upon us both, but now I only wish I had been with her longer.

She never tried to do her work just so that it would "get by." Her superiors were usually her inferiors, and she might have done less careful work, and still been praised. But she wasn't working primarily for them or their praise—she was working for herself and her own praise, and her ideal was not to have things "do" but to have them "right."

And the result was that she can say now, "I never failed."

I wish that every girl in this city who is starting on a business or professional career might work under that woman for a few weeks. I am sure she would be a better worker for it all her life.

Everyone cannot have remarkable brains. Everyone cannot have perfect charm or ingenuity or manual cleverness, but everyone may have that splendid spur—"a passion for perfection." And, believe me, no one who has that will ever fall behind into the ranks of the futile and mediocre folk.

Thought for Today
By MRS. ROBERT N. LAFFLETTE.

CALLING IN WASHINGTON.

WHEN Mr. La Follette came to Congress many years ago, every one living on Capitol Hill, whether the wife of a Supreme Court Justice, Senator, Cabinet Officer, or Representative in Congress, kept Monday as her "day at home." I often thought, when going about town, covering the same ground each day, what a saving of nerve-racking study of the map and carriage hire it would be if, locally, instead of official position, governed the choice of the calling days in Washington. Surely the good example of Capitol Hill will receive plenty of other Washington neighborhoods.

When we returned, twenty years later, the custom had changed, but not as expected. Now, instead of always calling at Capitol Hill on Monday, you must sometimes go on other days. Like so much of woman's work, calling in Washington has not been simplified, but made more complex. There is a growing tendency to adopt special days, and announce them on the cards, as "First and Second Tuesdays," or "Thursdays in February," or a single day, as "Friday, January the 25th." It is something of a task to keep track of these, if one has not a social secretary.

Women in Washington official life come from all parts of the country, have widely varied experience, as well as much in common. The social intercourse is very pleasant. It would be too bad to miss it altogether. But the way should be made easier. When the Congressional club was organized some of us hoped it would be made the clearing house for calls. Every woman in the official circle is entitled to membership, as well as those directly related to ex-officials. But so far this delightful meeting place has not been accepted as a substitute for personal visits. Will it ever be? I dare not prophesy.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Appointments of a Bath Room—Do Not Make It a Storage Place.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

A large well appointed bath room makes up for many deficiencies in a housewife is indeed filled with pride. But the real spirit of the room must not be solely in white tiles and nickel plating. Good plumbing is all important and this means today that every pipe is uncovered, that traps are perfectly sealed and that over flow pipes are of the right kind.

The room might well be larger than usual, usually is, and the window should be large enough to give good light and ventilation. In fine houses colored glass is often used but in the unpretentious home a muslin curtain and a shade serve the same purpose.

Even a wood floor is somewhat absorbent and a tiled floor is far better but if the floor must be of wood it can be made nearly non-absorbent by being sure that every crack is filled smoothly then cover it with a varnish floor finish or if need be with a hard enamel paint. Never oil a bath room floor.

A tiled wainscot is better than wood and above that paper will look well while it is fresh but must be replaced at intervals. A very large light blue or a sea green paint applied to the walls with perhaps stencil figures along the top for a frieze will look better than paper and it can be washed repeatedly.

The overflow of the wash bowl is sometimes unsanitary because it is more or less clogged with grease or other accumulations. Disinfectants should never be used about plumbing because the need of them shows either lack of cleanliness or that something is so wrong that an investigation and repairing should be made at once.

It is important to have a mirror hung in a good light and towels in liberal supply for nothing suggests poverty more than a scant supply of badly worn towels. Unless the room is large enough to contain a closet or cabinet keep the main supply elsewhere.

A washable rug is the only kind to be tolerated in a bath room and is especially on a tiled floor. These rugs are made in white blue or green to match the color used in the bath room decoration.

The white enamel tub can be kept entirely free from discoloration by rubbing soda solution or by applying a little baking soda on a cloth. Have a movable seat to place across the tub and a rubber mat to fit the bottom of the tub to prevent accidents. The fixtures may all be nickel plated or partly of plate glass for shelves and towel rods of glass are cleanly and attractive.

There are seemingly no end to little fixtures and conveniences that may be added to the bath room and chief among these is the medicine closet which should contain all bottles and miscellaneous things that so often give a bath room a cluttered look. It is not sanitary to keep soiled clothing of any kind in the bath room although this is often done in flats and apartments. Nor is it pleasant to see brooms, brushes and cleaning utensils stored there.

THE FIVE-CENT NAVY BEAN.

The savory odors of the old-time baked beans have come down to us through several generations; and to hear of the nutty beans baked in the old brick ovens and served with the brown loaf and sweet blocks of home-fattened pork makes us long for the experience of just one taste. Those aromas floated all Saturday through the old-fashioned kitchen and made the young folks so hungry that they couldn't wait until Sunday morning for the huling dish, but must needs dip into it for supper; but this did not take away the relish for it when it appeared the next morning.

Baked beans are fully as popular today as they were in grandfather's time, yet with our complicated existence we find them harder to digest than did our forefathers, who lived a simpler and more active life.

The skin of the bean is the indigestible part which the digestive juices cannot dissolve, so that if the skins are removed, as they are by the process of soup-making, they are much easier digested.

When beans are combined with other foods, they are more easily digested than when used in large amounts alone.

Left-over-beans may be the thrifty housewife's changed into very palatable and nourishing dishes.

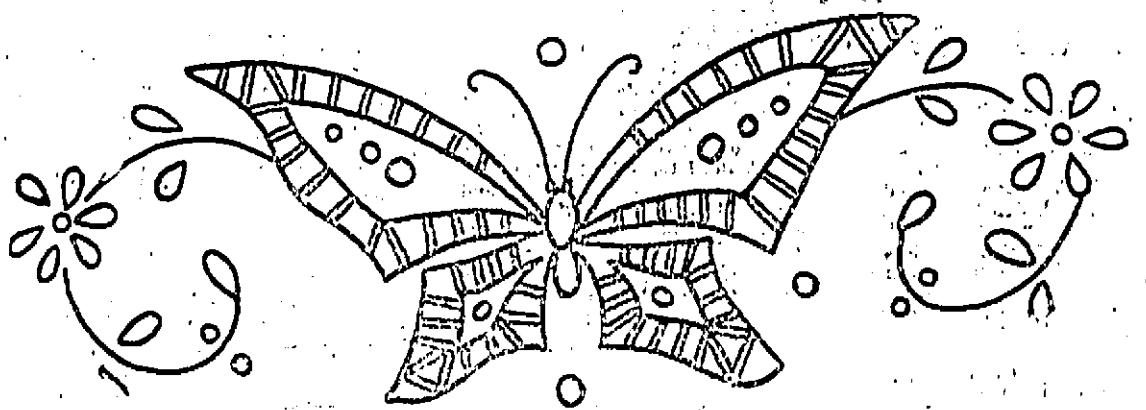

The length of time for soaking beans depends upon the age; the older and drier they are the more soaking they need. When the beans show the skin shriveled and broken they are ready to be put with the pork to bake.

MOTIF FOR OBLONG PINCUSHION OR SACKET.

This motif is most effective on an oblong pincushion or a sacket. The body of the butterfly and the flowers and leaves are worked solid with the dots as eyes. The butterfly and stems are done in the outline stitch, and the dots in the wings are done in solid embroidery. Mercerized cotton No. 20 should be used.

A GRACEFUL BREAKFAST CAP OF LACE.

New York, Dec.—Less coquettish black. The crown of the cap is made of a fine dotted net and draws up at the lower edge on a narrow velvet ribbon so that the early morning coiffure may be quite hidden except for the waves of hair, which are pulled out under the cap edge in front for the sake of becomingness.

When you go to your photographer just close your eyes like this and you will secure a perfect photo. Simply because you will forget the presence of the camera man and will be natural instead of trying to "look pleasant."

"O, Oo Big 'Tory Teller!"

A crowd of children built a fire on a lot in the uptown section. They were enjoying the fun hugely when a policeman hove in sight. He weighed nearly 350 pounds and was so tall that one got the idea of immensity from looking at him. All the youngsters save one scurried away from the fire. The one who remained was apparently satisfied, despite policeman, to remain and watch the crackling, dancing flames. Like a mastodon going after a mouse, the policeman, brandishing his club, dashed at the four-year-old under full steam ahead. As he came close he shouted accusingly, still waving his club: "I saw you put a match to that fire!" There was silence pregnant with meaning for a few seconds. Then the very small youngster looked up into the face of the very big policeman. "O, oo big 'tory teller!" he gasped in astonishment.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Clara Barton's Splendid Work. America owes its Red Cross almost entirely to one woman—Clara Barton. While resting in Europe, after her arduous work during the civil war, she learned of Mr. Durant, read his book, looked into the treaty, saw its application in the wars then pending, and came home determined that her own country should ratify the treaty and put it to good use. Said Miss Barton: "If we had adopted the Red Cross idea in the Civil War Andersonville, with its 10,000, would never have stained our record."

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

CAPE GOOD HOPE DISCOVERED BY MISTAKE.

By A. W. MACY.

For many centuries the need of a water route from Europe to India was keenly felt. Portuguese navigators were especially active in search of one, and in 1482, five years before Columbus set out on his voyage of discovery, Bartholomew Diaz rounded Cape Good Hope, at the southern extremity of Africa. He did not know it at the time, being too far out at sea. When the crew discovered they were on the wrong side of the mainland they became panic-stricken, and insisted on returning at once. They carried their point; soon caught sight of the cape. Thus it came that Diaz discovered the Cape of Good Hope while sailing homeward. If he had had a bolder crew, and had kept on, sailing eastward, he might have reached India and thus solved the problem he had in hand. Ten years later Vasco da Gama, another Portuguese navigator, also doubled the cape. His crew was likewise cowardly, and rebelled; but he eventually was a man of more force than Diaz, for he quelled the mutiny, and kept on sailing eastward until he reached the shores of India.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist.

OVERCOMING CONSTIPATION

Sir Thomas Sawyer says in the Lancet that he has found that in many cases of constipation can be largely or entirely overcome by assumption of the natural position during defecation, and that this avoids severe strain that often proves injurious. Diet is fundamental in such cases, but all natural means should be used that are beneficial and not likely to be in any way injurious, as continued use of the enema, and drugs are now generally admitted to be. The tendency to depend on some one remedy in such cases is a common mistake. Every beneficial means should be used.

HANDLING OF CROP HINDERED BY COLD

Bundles Are Frozen Solidly Preventing Examination on Delivery or Sorting.

The severe winter weather of late has left the unfettered tobacco in the country in such frozen condition as to interfere greatly with the warehouse handling of the crop, besides it is likely to postpone the receiving to a later date than was expected says the Eastern Reporter of Friday.

"The bundles are frozen so solidly that absolutely prevent any examination on delivery and must be thawed out before being placed on the sorting table, a process that requires several days in a warm room, and with the warehouses are roomed with heated store rooms so the work at the packing houses is being handicapped in a measure. As the tobacco in the country is not likely to thaw out until well towards spring, the outlook is not a pleasant one to contemplate for the packers who have large amounts to handle. Under such conditions some warehouses find it difficult to keep a full force of hands in operation and delays and shut-downs promise to be frequent. There is ample reason, therefore, that packers are disposed to take in their purchases only as fast as they can be conveniently handled, especially so while zero weather prevails.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent—they act on bowels as pepper on nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

SERMON IS GIVEN AT UNION SERVICE BY BAPTIST PASTOR

Good Address on Subject, "The Changeless Christ," at Congregational Church Last Night.

Rev. J. C. Hazen preached the sermon at the Union meeting last evening at the Congregational church on the topic "The Changeless Christ," taking as his text the eighth verse of the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever." He brought out as his main thought the fact that as so much change occurs in everything which surrounds us that something changeless gives us the feeling of being above all else. In part he spoke as follows:

"When we speak of something which does not change, our attention is at once called to the fact that everything which surrounds us, everything with which we come in contact in our daily lives changes continually and is never the same for any length of time. Vegetation, animal life, conditions of life, circumstances, friends and even our families are subject to a constant succession of changes. In fact we do not want things to be forever the same and the changing is pleasant even in the members of our own families. Constant change is a source of pleasure to us daily and we see beauty in the flickering lights and shadows of the sunsets which are never alike from one end of the year to another. The growth of flowers, of animals, of friends, fascinates us.

"But when we turn from all this world of constant change and try to think of something which is eternally the same, yesterday, today and forever, our minds at once conceive an immortal being. Two old friends meet after years of separation and each says that the other has not changed a bit despite the gray hairs and lined faces. What is it that they mean which has not changed? It is the spirit of friendship which is just as strong as it was in years gone by. We think of Jesus as a changeless friend and then we can actually know Him, we can always know where to go and how we will be received. We have the record of His life when He was on earth and we are able to picture Him as he is today.

As we consider our friends what is it that we would want them to have always the same. Is it their wealth, their social position, or any of their worldly goods? Above all else we would want someone whom we could approach under all conditions, one whom we could tell our sorrows to and discuss our problems with, would we not? Jesus was ever thus. Even the beggar was answered when Jesus was in the midst of a great crowd of the highest people in the city of Jerusalem. Even the women who stopped Him when He was on His way to friend's house to enjoy a banquet, at first they did not receive them who approached Him under any conditions and helped them.

Have we stopped to think whether we are always as changeless in our spirit of friendship? How much better will the world be when people can keep this spirit always the same under all conditions."

OFFER CORRECTION TO STATEMENT MADE

State Highway Commission Writes to Gazette Correcting Statement of Mr. Gettle at Board Meeting.

Editor Janesville Gazette:

I wish to correct a statement made by Mr. Gettle to the Rock County Board at its last meeting which state- ment was contained in an article published in your paper January 12th. Mr. Gettle seems to be under some misapprehension as to the terms of the new State Aid Law. Under this law, counties which had not already adopted a system of county highways are required to adopt not more than 15 percent of the County road mileage as a county system but this system can be subsequently increased by the County Board.

Those counties like Rock County which already had a county system outlined do not have to keep their improvements down to 15 percent and Rock County can build over any mile which is at present outlined on its system and, at any County Board meeting, can make such increase in the system as is deemed necessary.

I trust you will correct the wrong impression that Mr. Gettle's statement has probably made.

There seems to be a spirit of willful misrepresentation of the terms and spirit of the new State Aid Law prevalent among a few of your people in Rock County. I believe that all that this law requires is a fair trial to justify itself with your people.

Yours very truly,

Wisconsin Highway Commission.

Lawsuits Against Shoe Dealers.

The Mayer Boot and Shoe Company, Milwaukee, Wis., have commenced suits against a number of shoe dealers at Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other points, alleging violation of the trade mark law. These dealers are charged with trading on the reputation and name "Martha Washington Comfort Shoes" and using this registered trade mark name, which is the exclusive property of the above named company, in the sale of shoes which were not Martha Washington shoes.

Evidence has already been secured against one hundred shoe dealers and further investigations are revealing new cases. The F. Mayer Boot and Shoe Company have asked the court to enjoin the further sale of shoes by the defendants under this name, and for an accounting of those already sold.

Under the present laws, merchants are taking chances in attempting to trade upon trade mark rights unlawfully. For the protection of the public, the manufacturers of the genuine Martha Washington Comfort Shoes have branded the name "Martha Washington" on the sole, which is a safeguard against fraud and substitution.

BREAKS A COLD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

Proves Quinine is never effective in the cure of a severe cold or the Grippe.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable neuralgia, pains, headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or Grippe misery as promptly and with out any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

LITTLE SURPRISES.

"Here's the rope of pearls you lost, ma'am; no, I don't want any reward." "You didn't need to send for me, Mrs. Williams. The baby's broken out with the heat; that's all." "Dr. Fourthly, the church board has decided to raise your salary $500 and give you a three months' vacation next summer." "I see your seat is directly behind a pillar, madam; I'll change with you. I've seen this play several times before."

"Throggins, old chap, you want that office, and I don't. I'm going to withdraw my name." "I notice you've advertised for a cook, mum; I'll change with you for a week without any pay."

A Good Rule. The story is told of a man who had great difficulty in spelling words with "al" and "le" in them. One day a friend offered to give him an infallible rule for such cases. "It is a rule," he said, "that in forty-seven years has never failed me."

His friend expressed delight and waited. The man resumed: "The rule is simply this: Write your 'l' and 'e' exactly alike, and put the dot just between them."—Ladies Home Journal.

Simple Remedy. "I cannot think of any way to settle this deadlock." "Why not try a key to the situation?"

EASILY ADJUSTED.

When the family for which Uncle Erasmus had worked so long and faithfully presented him with a mule, he was overcome with joy. "He's a bad kicker, Uncle Erasmus," said the son of the family. "I told father I didn't see what you could do with an animal that liked to kick and back better than anything else." "I've got all that planned," said Uncle Erasmus, solemnly. "When I harness that animal into my cart, if he acts contumacious and starts in to back, I'm going to take him right out'n the cart, turn it round, and den harness dat mule in hindsides befo'. Dat'll humor him, an' I'll get my cart up de hill jes' de same."—Youth's Companion.

It May Be. "I see that coal dust is said to be beneficial to the health." "Is that old wheeze going the rounds again?"

"Then you have heard it before?" "Yes; I think some dub puts it into circulation every fall, just to jolly the people who have furnaces to tend."

Paradoxical. "This sleeping out of doors for invalids is no longer an experiment." "Yet is it still a tentative remedy?"

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE MOSQUITO

THE mosquito is an agile quadruped with a prying nature and a gumshoe stinger. Scientists tell us that this stinger has a rotary action of 3,400 revolutions per minute and never has to be honed or sharpened. The mosquito does most of his sleeping in the day time, and seldom sallies forth until darkness has cast her sable mantle over the bonny. He is a rapid worker, with a subtle and velvety approach, and can sink a shaft in the ear lobe of a heavy sleeper before he realizes what is going on. Whenever you hear a man boast of detecting a mosquito in the act of excavation and killing, you can be sure he could have told him to show you the pallid corpse of his victim. Many a man has fought a mosquito into the ropes in a bedroom, closed with darkness and 44-calibre profanity, and has turned over with the happy consciousness of having committed a justifiable homicide, only to be awakened ten minutes later by the painful discovery that a new lead was being opened up just back of his left ear. The mosquito is never more sociable or ingratiating than on a warm summer night, when the front porch is full of cobweb hose and noisy tan oxen. The hums of love are repeated with proposals which have been deferred until some titillating author could reach down and detach a mosquito with no sense of the proprieties and a grip like a porous plaster from his high ankle. Some mosquitoes have a more pervasive and soul-shattering sting than others and leave several footprints on the sands of time. The mosquito will never land on anybody who has been carefully immersed in kerosene oil before retiring for the night, and on this account the best hotels of New Jersey are all equipped with petroleum shower baths.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Poet Philosopher

When bitter is the winter day, and tempests sweep the floor, I go my cheerful, kindly way, to help the worthy poor. The poor man's child, sick and sore, are eating whey and curds; then I come rapping at the door, and bring them

HELPING THE POOR. The storm is not more rule than the reward. I get! There's no such thing as gratitude on earth, already yet! The poor man listens to my spiel, with darkly brooding eyes; "I'd rather have a sack of meal than all your words," he cries. "Aly children, by misfortune vexed, regret they're alive; they will not fatten on a feast, on provender they don't thrive. They cannot warm their naked feet or fill the empty stove with sentiments, however sweet, from poets' Treasure Trove. And language will not plug the crack through which the cold winds blow, or make immune the poor man's shack from icicles and snow. Oh bring us to our kitchen, mauterkraut and roasted birds! We have an old time spelling book on which to draw for words!"

Mouse Breaks Up Woman's Meeting.

The Milwaukee Druggists Ladies' society, newly organized, had a divided meeting the other day in the Hotel Pilsner. The president and a handful of members went to the second floor club room, where, according to schedule, they were to hold the meeting. The secretary and treasurer and some forty members assembled in the corner, first floor, club room and wondered why their presiding officer did not arrive. While in this room they had a visitor they neither invited nor welcomed. A mouse rampant appeared. Instead of crossing the room as a mouse usually does, with a gliding, serpentine motion, it went in long jumps. There was consternation for a few seconds until the mouse disappeared in a corner. — Milwaukee Free Press.

Chief Sufferer in the Duel. The cost of duels is dwelt upon by Aurelian Schell, in his "Reminiscences." He tells of the elaborate preparations made for a hostile encounter between two journalists whom he knew. One of them borrowed $20 from Schell to meet his share of the expenses. This sum was never returned. "After ten minutes perfunctory fencing," he adds, "the principals embraced each other, and both left the ground without a scratch. I was the only man hit."
